

SLOTHOWER LOSES GROUND IN ELECTION CONTEST

GASOLINE TAX BILL GAINING SUPPORT NOW

Went to Third Reading in House; Efforts to Amend Failed

Springfield, Ill., June 9.—(AP)—Surviving heavy attacks and attempted amendments, the bill for a tax of two cents a gallon on gasoline went to third reading in the House of Representatives today. If it passes third reading, it will go to the Senate. Introduced by Representative A. Otis Arnold, Quincy, it provides that one-half of the tax shall go to the state and one-half to the county in which it is collected.

Debate on it was resumed this morning at the point where it was dropped last night and lasted until past noon. Never considered by its sponsors to be in serious danger, it gained apparent strength as amendment after amendment to cripple it went down to defeat.

Cook Fights It.
On the ground it would impose a heavy tax on Cook county to the benefit of the rest of the state, because of the large number of automobiles owned there, and the small geographical territory, the bill received a severe drubbing from the Cook County representation. A glimmer of hope for their success and the defeat of the bill came when down-state members split on the question of adopting a substitute bill offered by Representative David Hunter, Rockford, splitting the tax in the proportion of 70 percent to the counties and thirty percent to the state. After long debate, this amendment was tabled.

Other amendments included one by Representative O'Grady, Chicago, to make the tax purely a county tax, the entire amount collected to be used on roads, streets and alleys in the counties. This like other amendments lost on a vote of the house.

Consideration of the biennial omnibus bill followed.

Senate Activities
Senator Richard Barr's bill granting terminable permits to Chicago traction lines was passed by the Senate today. It now goes to the House.

Senator Boehm, Chicago, tried to halt the advancement of the bill by calling attention to the violation of the Senate rule that an amended bill must be on the senators' desks for one day before passage. An amendment was made yesterday and Boehm said the day had not elapsed. The rules committee held a conference and introduced a resolution to suspend the one day requirement on amended bills for the rest of the session. This was done and the bill passed.

The traction bills, the only measures of importance considered by the Senate this week provided for the unitization of Chicago traction lines, terminable permits and construction of subways. Two of the five have been passed and sent to the lower house, three are on order of third reading.

The bills were drawn up by attorneys for Chicago traction interests and it is on this score that Senators Barbour, Boehm and Courtney are objecting.

Prominent Chicago Chinaman is Dead

Chicago, June 9.—(AP)—Moy Tong Chew, called by his people "The Green Dragon," nationally known as an arbiter of Chinese tong wars, is dead.

Moy, who also is known as Hip Lung, spent most of his 82 years in Chicago's Chinatown. He died last night of heart disease.

He was a merchant and operated the first bank for his people here. Although he amassed several fortunes, his attorney said he left only a small estate. Moy was a large donor to Chinese philanthropies and there were many American charities that he regularly gave to.

Moy maintained his ancestral home at Canton and it was there, in 1912 that Dr. Sun Yat Sen planned the first Chinese revolution, out of which grew the republic. Two of his daughters were graduated from the University of Chicago. They went to Canton to marry Chinese college professors.

Washington, June 9.—(AP)—Iowa will be for President Coolidge in 1933 if a "good constructive farm relief program" is adopted during the next session of congress. Gov. Hammill of Iowa said today after a call at the White House.

Frank O. Lowden is very popular in Iowa, he added, and undoubtedly he would be the choice of that state for the presidential nomination if the farm situation would not take care of

EXPLOSION OF TRUCK LOAD OF NITROGLYCERINE ON HIGHWAY KILLED TWO; INJURED SCORE

Butler, Pa., June 9.—(AP)—Two men were killed and 20 persons hurt, some seriously when an automobile truck of nitroglycerine exploded on the highway at Lick Hill, near here, today. Three Lick Hill residences were destroyed and fifteen others were damaged by the blast.

Frank Greer of Oil City, Pa., driver of the truck, and an unidentified man accompanying him were killed. Two unidentified men, walking on the highway were injured seriously and doctors said their chance for recovery was slight. Occupants of Lick Hill houses were injured, some seriously. The truck, loaded with explosives, had just turned from the main highway to a side road, enroute to a magazine storage shed when the blast occurred. The nitro was to have been used in blowing oil wells. The force of the blast was felt five miles away.

Parts of the truck and the bodies of the victims were found 500 yards away.

Many poles carrying telegraph, telephone and electric wires, were ripped down and gas lines were broken. Some of the damaged houses caught fire.

The explosion occurred when a rear wheel of the truck slipped from the concrete highway into a small ditch as the machine was turning into a mud road.

BODY OF YOUNGER RAKOW BOY FOUND WEDNESDAY MORN

Wisconsin Canoeists on Rock River Discover Body Wednesday

The body of Charles Rakow, aged 5, the younger of the two brothers drowned in Rock river at Sterling a week ago Sunday when the swift current carried their boat through a gate of the government dam, was found about 11 o'clock Wednesday morning about one and a half miles east of Lyndon by Arnold Wall and William Littman of Milwaukee, Wis., who were on a trip down Rock river in a canoe. When they passed through the locks at the upper dam Tuesday evening, they were told by the lock tender to be on the lookout for the bodies of the two boys who had been drowned.

The young men state that they were attracted by an object, which they believed to be a body, floating down the river in midstream. They pulled their canoe to the middle of the river, and as they got close they recognized the features of a young boy, with the face badly bloated. They towed the dead body to the shore and immediately telephoned the police headquarters in Sterling of their gruesome find.

Mr. Wall and Mr. Littman may be temporarily halted in their canoe trip pending the giving of their testimony before the coroner's jury. They left their home a week ago Sunday, the day of the drowning of the Rakow boys, launching their canoe at Lake Okauchee, 30 miles west of Milwaukee for a trip down the Rock river. On Tuesday night the young men camped along the river two miles southeast of Sterling. By their unexpected find of the body of Charles Rakow, they are entitled to the reward of $50, which had been offered by citizens in Sterling.

It is believed that the thunder storm of Tuesday night brought the body of Charles Rakow to the surface, and no doubt had floated considerable distance since coming up.

The finding of the body of Charles will prompt the volunteers, who have worked so valiantly in the search, to resume their operations farther down the river, in the hope that the body of the older brother, Lawrence Rakow might be recovered.

Chicago, June 9.—(AP)—Four men, linked by government secret service men with a counterfeiting band whose operations extended to Europe, were today found guilty in federal district court here. They are Tony Corona, Sam Romano, John Ferlito and Joe Paldo.

John J. McGeath, federal operative, who was chief witness, said he lived with the men six months and negotiated for $15,000 in counterfeit currency.

The four men convicted today are part of a group of counterfeiters in Indiana and Illinois, secret service men say. Nineteen have been arrested during the past six months.

DEMONSTRATIONS AGAINST POLAND AROUSE SOVIETS

Resist Assassination of Soviet Minister by Young Russian

BULLETIN.

Moscow, June 9.—(AP)—Soviet indignation at the assassination of the Soviet minister in Warsaw on Wednesday, has turned against England almost to the exclusion of Poland.

The Soviet government has issued a communique alleging British complicity in terrorist plots and outrages in Russia, while the entire press this morning, following the tone of the government's declaration ascribing Russia's counter-revolutionary difficulties in the last few years to English leadership, directed verbal batteries against England.

Moscow, June 9.—(AP)—The Soviet authorities were exercising increased vigilance today as a consequence of two terrorist outrages and a huge anti-Polish demonstration staged as a protest against the assassination at Warsaw Tuesday of the Soviet minister to Poland.

Last night the streets leading to the Polish embassy were filled with demonstrators, but a heavy guard of special Russian troops kept them away from the building.

The bombing of a hall in which the Leningrad Communist Discussion Club was meeting Tuesday night was followed yesterday by the blowing up of a trolley car in which a lieutenant of the Polish intelligence service, suspected of espionage, was being taken to Minsk from the Polish frontier.

The Polish authorities, according to Warsaw dispatches are doing everything possible to learn whether the murder of Soviet minister M. Volkoff was part of a Russian monarchist plot, or whether the assassin, a Russian student named Boris Kowceda, fired the revolver on his own impulse. Police search among monarchist colonies have resulted in five arrests in Warsaw and 29 in Vilna.

SUGGESTED SITES FOR NEW SCHOOL GO ON BALLOTS

Considerable Interest in Proposed New School Building Shown

That considerable interest is being taken in the approaching high school election is shown by the fact that petitions suggesting four different sites for the proposed new building have been filed with F. K. Tribou, secretary of the district. Descriptions of each of these sites will be placed upon the ballot, in order that the voters may decide which shall be purchased.

The first site is the land lying just east of the city limits and north of the Lincoln highway, being a tract forty rods square, in the north half of Section Four in Dixon township.

Advocates of this location say that the modern tendency is to build high schools at the outskirts of town, where property is less expensive and where larger tracts of land are available. They call attention to the new high schools at Polo and at Freeport, both of which are so situated.

North Side Site

Another location proposed is the land immediately adjoining the athletic field, on the north side of the river, and being the block bounded by West Boyd street, West Water street, North Hennepin avenue, and the east line of the athletic field.

The third site lies between Fifth and Sixth streets and Crawford and Dixon Avenues. This block is well situated, on high ground, and might prove an ideal location for a school building.

The fourth petition described the block between Highland and Madison

RADIO MACHINERY OF NATION TO BE DEVOTED TO LINDY

37 Station in Eleven Hour Hookup of His Well-come Home

U. S. S. Memphis, by Wireless to The Associated Press, June 9.—(AP)—Colonel Lindbergh will be greeted by the United States dirigible Los Angeles early tomorrow as he nears the shore of the home land. A request has been received from the navy department for the course and position of the Memphis for the guidance of the dirigible's commander. According to the present schedule, the Memphis will arrive off the Virginia capes at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and reach Washington at 11 o'clock Saturday morning.

Washington, June 9.—(AP)—America's huge radio machinery in a continuous eleven hour hookup next Saturday will be devoted to broadcasting the name and fame of the hero-aviator, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

For the first time in history 37 stations throughout the U. S., will be used for such a continued stretch to present a single event. The addresses and description of the national capital's welcome and reception of the 25 year old New York-to-Paris flyer will be given to America's radio audience of 30,000,000 persons. The program will start at 12 noon, the time of arrival at Washington and will close at 11 p. m. that night.

Three Big Features.

Three outstanding features will be broadcast in the radio tribute to the pilot—his welcome and decoration with the distinguished flying cross by President Coolidge at the Washington Monument and his addresses at the receptions of the National Press Club and the Minnesota State Society.

Another decoration has been added to the long list with the award of the cross of honor of the United States Flag Association.

Former Secretary of State Hughes, founder of the association, will present the cross.

Nearly every minute of Colonel Lindbergh's stay in Washington until Monday has been allotted to welcoming ceremonies.

On his plans, however, seems to rest the success or failure of a Washington function Saturday night, according to the plea for his attendance from a college sorority giving a dance for the benefit of the Mississippi flood sufferers to the committee.

TO FLY TO NEW YORK

New York, June 9.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today entered the discussion to whether he should fly from Washington in the "Spirit of St. Louis" and land at Miller Field, Staten Island or fly here in an amphibian plane and land in the harbor.

From the cruiser Memphis, which is bringing him back from France, Col. Lindbergh radioed the following message: "Not advisable to ship plane by train. Crowd can be avoided by not publishing time and place of landing."

Grover Whalen, chairman of the mayor's reception committee who previously had radioed Colonel Lindbergh asking him to fly here from Washington in an amphibian plane and to land in the harbor to avoid crowds, shipping the "Spirit of St. Louis" by train, sent the flier the following message in reply: "Sorry to disagree with you, but you will complicate New York's plans if you fly to Miller Field in your own plane. Police commissioner wishes me to emphasize that the police problem in connection with the city's plans for your welcome is a difficult one and joins with me in requesting you reconsider your present intention to use your own plane."

FARM EMPLOYEE AND MOTHER OF TWO VANISHED

Forgery Charge Added to "Elopement" Near Amboy Last Eve

Sheriff Ward Miller today was conducting a search which was extending east to Pennsylvania in an effort to locate L. B. Olschke and Mrs. Arthur Dunn and her two children. Olschke is wanted both in Dixon and Amboy for the alleged passing of several forged notes and checks.

Olschke yesterday came to Dixon and purchased a used Essex coach from the Arthur Miller agency, giving eight spurious Dixon National bank notes of $40 each, bearing his own signature and that of Earl Kennedy, a farmer residing five and one-half miles west of Amboy on the Amboy-Sterling road. He also gave a worthless check on the Amboy State bank and signed by Earl Kennedy in the sum of $35. Olschke is also said to have passed two other bad checks for $33 and $25 drawn in a like manner in Amboy yesterday and others are believed to have been circulated in Dixon and Amboy.

From information secured by Sheriff Miller this morning in his investigation, it was reported that Olschke went to the Arthur Dunn home last night about 8 o'clock and taking Mrs. Dunn and her two small children, departed for parts unknown. They are believed to have gone east. Dunn at the time is said to have been attending a lodge meeting in Lee Center and did not arrive home until 11 o'clock last night.

From the investigation today, it was stated that the signatures of Earl Kennedy, a neighboring farmer, were all forgeries and the Dunn woman is said to have been implicated in the plan, which apparently had been carefully laid.

Olschke recently caused the arrest of Dunn, who was brought to Dixon and fined on a charge of assault and battery, following a quarrel at the latter's home. A warrant charging Olschke with issuing checks with intent to defraud was issued in Amboy this morning and other charges were expected to be lodged against him later in the day. Olschke, who has been working on farms in that vicinity, is said to have a jail record in the east and to be wanted in other states.

WOULD MAKE FARMERS TAKE CARE OF WATER

Chicago, June 9.—(AP)—A new suggestion for Mississippi valley flood prevention was brought to the American Water Works Association convention today by J. H. Lees of the Iowa Geological Bureau, Des Moines.

Each farm should be required by law, Mr. Lees said, to take care of all water falling on it during the year. This could be done by retaining the water through tilling of the soil, construction of contour rows or ridges or using other "simple and inexpensive means" to force the rainfall to pass into the ground instead of running off unchecked.

TWO BROTHERS, SOUGHT SINCE 1923, FOR MURDER AND MAIL ROBBERY, CAUGHT LAST EVE.

Stuebenville, O., June 9.—(AP)—Extradition to Oregon to stand trial for the murder of four persons killed in a train holdup in 1923 was waived today by Ray and Roy D'Autremont, twins, who were arrested here last night.

Formal extradition papers will be carried out late today before U. S. Commissioner Borkowski.

Both men have confessed their identity but neither had admitted complicity in the holdup in Siskiyou, Oregon.

While refusing to discuss what took place at a conference between detectives and the brothers, early today, police said that the men had made a statement.

The men are held under heavy guard at the city jail.

For four years the two, with a third brother, Hugh, recently captured in the Philippines, had been sought virtually around the world with $20,000 in rewards over their heads.

The D'Autremonts were charged with a train holdup on October 11, 1923. The mail car was dynamited and three trainmen and the mail clerk killed.

The desperadoes were forced to flee empty handed, however, when they were unable to enter the blazing and shattered car.

SAY PRESIDENT UNDECIDED YET ABOUT CONGRESS

Has Open Mind Concerning Calling Special Session in Oct.

Washington, June 9.—(AP)—President Coolidge has the question of a special session of congress in October before him but has not reached any definite decision.

His attitude was indicated at the White House after Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, one of the administration's senate leaders, had predicted that he would call a special session. An almost immediate clarification of the President's view was forthcoming, indicating that Mr. Coolidge is keeping an open mind on the question but considers it entirely too early to decide.

The Utah senator advocated the special session in a conference with the President yesterday, urging the calling of congress at least six weeks before the regular December assembly. He declared it would go far in relieving the huge program in prospect from the flood control and farm relief problems and the framing of revenue legislation.

SCHUMM AND MILLER TIED AT 1500 NOW

129 Questionable Ballots Remain to be Decided Upon

The recent in April's municipal election in the County Court closed shortly before noon today showing a tie vote between Commissioners, Charles E. Miller and Louis Schumm. William V. Slothower, former member of the city council and defeated candidate who contested the election, was almost 50 votes short of this number. Attorneys were to open their arguments on defective ballots this afternoon and it was indicated that probably a half of the 129 ballots which were laid aside and not counted would be added to the total figures before the close of the arguments today.

Failure on the part of election judges to place their initials on the backs of ballots at the city election in April resulted in the majority of the number of contested ballots in the recount. In some of the precincts, the judges had apparently taken voted ballots on which they figured totals and these were likewise questioned. With the recount completed it was indicated that the judges of some of the precincts might be called before the court to explain systems of marking of ballots. The recount, according to the attorneys, demonstrated that the laxity was apparent among the judges of election and that the ballots in the majority of cases were properly voted.

Slothower failed to make a gain in the recount of the ballots, but lost more than some of those whom he had challenged.

In his action which brought about the recount, the former member of the council charged irregularities in the first and second precincts at the municipal election and it was expected that several ballots would be thrown out from the third precinct. Thirty ballots were laid aside in the recount to be examined from the first precinct, 24 in the second and 17 from the third. The checkers found the following totals after the results had been canvassed a second time and all ballots recounted:

OLD MASTERS

I recollect a nurse called Ann. When I carried me about the grass. And one fine day a fine young man came up, and kissed the pretty lass.
She did not make the least objection.
Think I, "Aha!"
When I can talk, I'll tell mama."
—And that's my earliest recollection.

Prairieville Social Circle Meeting

The Prairieville Social Circle held a meeting yesterday at the Prairieville church. The feature of the day was the picnic dinner served at noon on the tables on which the bountiful meal was served, being beautifully decorated with iris and peonies. There were present twelve members, seven guests and three children.

Mrs. Lillian Harms read a most interesting paper on "Successful Homes," and Mrs. Lola Book read an equally interesting paper on "Good Housekeeping."

DINNER—Stuffed steak, potatoes au gratin, buttered spinach, banana and peanut salad, tapioca cream with strawberries, milk, coffee.

Toad in a Hole
Two cups chopped (not put through food chopper) lamb, 1 cup milk, 1-2 cup flour, 1 egg, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon melted butter.

The meat is cooked or raw. If raw more time must be allowed in baking. Cut meat in half-inch dice or chop coarsely in chopping bowl. Put in a well-buttered baking dish and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Mix and sift flour and salt. Slowly add milk, stirring to keep smooth. Add egg well beaten and melted butter. Beat hard with egg beater for two minutes and pour over meat. Bake 20 minutes in a hot oven until meat is done. The English way to do it is to "cut in squares and serve overlapping each other on a hot dish" but we serve it from the baking dish.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by AILENE SUMNER

Women are growing tired of bridge and are turning from the bridge to the sewing machine. We have this on the word of a lady whose title proclaims her executive secretary of the Needlework and Textile Guild of Chicago. The lady says that within three months 300 women have joined the guild and are making needlework because they have tired of bridge. One often wonders why women WILL play and work so intensively. The bridge rage and craze has been a good example of the way we do things. Bridge is a pleasant form of recreation, the interest in which could be sustained over a period of many years if women would treat it a some occasional form of many-formed recreation. But they had to go at it just as they went at mah jong, bal masques, charity bazaars and all the games and jobs that have their little day.

THE HOLY ESTATE

Definitions are dull things, but occasionally needed. Sometimes we forget "what it's all about." Which may justify a refresh of some opinions of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise on the holy estate of matrimony. "The ends of marriage are comradeship, the home and the child," says the rabbi. "There never have been and never will be any real substitutes for marriage. All those suggested have been for the satisfaction of the 'I' and not for the 'we' in the marriage relation." The marriage failures, continues the rabbi, "are the human misfits who fall out of marriage as well as in it because of their limitations of mind and spirit."

AS BAD AS COTTONS

I have been informed that no young girl who pretends to be the least bit chic will be caught wearing the garments which shield her nether end from the cold cauld blast must be chiffon, the chiffon the better. The point seems to be that whereas thread silk hose can last a couple of weeks, if judiciously chosen, even the heaviest chiffons can't well be expected to last more than a week.

FREAK FAMILIES

A German father recently claimed that he held the world's record for largest family. He claimed that he had had 87 children, 69 by the first wife, 18 by the second. Eugenists and doctors have tried in vain to get the accurate data on this. They can't believe it and are inclined to think that somebody fished, if they did not lie. A certain doctor of the University of Munich has done much investigation of astounding birth records. He reports that most of them are based on human hysteria. "Generally," he writes, "they turn out to be the hallucination products of hysterical women who want to make themselves interesting through accounts of many and multiple births." Thank goodness, today's woman has something to interest her and about which to boast besides freak biological processes! And she's a more normal human being for her wider range of interest, the anti-feminists to the contrary notwithstanding!

Popular Oregon Man is Married

Oregon, June 8—The marriage of Bert Sauer, Oregon and Miss Luella Bear, daughter of William Bear of Marion township, was solemnized Tuesday night at the M. E. parsonage, the Rev. B. C. Holloway reading the ceremony. Only immediate relatives witnessed the service.

Mr. Sauer is associated in business with his father in the operation of a garage here. His bride, a graduate nurse, has been an attendant in the office of Dr. H. H. Sheldahl for several years. Both have been prominent members in Oregon's younger social set and have a host of friends in the vicinity.

After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Sauer will make their home here.

A RECIPE FOR GENIUS

By Olive Roberts Barton
We are told by Dr. Alfred Adler of Vienna that there is no such thing as genius.

"I must deny," says he, "that heredity has a great deal to do with accomplishment or performance. The great accomplishments, the really worth-while achievements have been made by individuals whose equipment was poor."

Like the chameleon who flapped his wings and crowded to the world. "Look! I have made the sun come up!" I feel like saying, "I told you so."

Now that we know that there isn't such a thing, it gives us all a chance. Isn't it a comfort to discover that we can be quite as well as the world's outstanding geniuses ever pretended to do, if we begin young enough, work long enough, and try hard enough to do it?

Effort is the keynote. It seems to do something to us besides merely accomplishing the button-sewing or the pot-stirring we happen to be doing at the moment.

But we cannot become Paul Pelet or Mary Lewises by being too casual about our button-sewing or pot stirring. For instance, speaking of cooks, George Rector, of the famous "Rector's" in New York, spent two years in Paris learning to make one of his famous sauces. He hired out as apprentice cook wherever he could get in until he worked his way up to the famous French cafes and restaurants. His teachers were of the best—but he surpassed his teachers. The son of a well-to-do restaurant proprietor himself, he was not satisfied. He out-Caesared Caesar eventually. His was not genius but hard work.

And so we have a new equation. Courage plus patience plus work minus self pity and minus easy discouragement equals genius.

Don't forget the concert Sunday at 3 p. m. at the Dixon Theater at which time Mrs. Hess-Burr presents in song recital Mrs. Wilson Dysart and co-artists.

AMERICA AND MUSIC.

Observation of National Music Week brings one more to consideration of the question, How fertile a field for musical accomplishment is America going to prove?

Thus far, obviously, America has done very little in the world of music. We have, to be sure, shown ourselves fairly appreciative of good music. We pay opera singers and concert stars fabulous prices, and some of our prima donnas enjoy fame almost equal to that held by the average movie actress; but reading the list of names of our favorite musicians reminds us forcibly that we, ourselves, have contributed very few of them.

In musical composition we have done little better. Of really enduring music we have fathered almost none. We have a wealth of men who are turning out jazz in floods, and a lone few who are doing really presentable work along more serious lines. That is about all we can say.

The reasons for this are not hard to find. Our deficiency in musical achievement, like our failure to produce any other variety of art as abundantly as other nations do, springs largely from the conditions that have attended our growth as a nation. We have been too busy to have time for the arts.

Ever since the Revolution American life has been kept keyed to a high pitch. We have been eternally at work. So wholeheartedly have we thrown ourselves into tasks that we have had no time for reflection—no leisure for things that were not absolutely necessary. Accordingly, our cultural life has been stunted. It has never had a chance.

Of late, however, there have been signs of a change. In music, in literature, in the theater, in the artist's studio—everywhere there seems to be an awakening. We are beginning to discover that we cannot live by bread alone. On the heels of this, doubtless, will come an awakened aesthetic activity.

What form will our music take, when we do produce it? That is a hard question. One suspects that we will never turn out grand operas of any great consequence. Nor is it easy to agree with those who see in jazz the beginnings of a significant music. And—if one needs to add this—it seems doubtful that American orchestra of future will be equipped with airplane propellers, auto horns and the like, despite the efforts along that line of certain very modern composers.

Forecasts are rather futile. It is becoming apparent, however, that our long period of musical barrenness is about ended. In the near future, we may be confident, America will find its voice.

THE WORM TURNS.

The dread of every self-respecting he-man to these many years has been the mothering female who insisted on buying him shirts and socks and this in color combinations that he couldn't possibly use anywhere outside the bottom of the bureau drawer. Jokes and jibes about the neckties a man got for birthdays and at Christmas have been sprung so often that they ceased to be funny. Manufacturers seemed to make two varieties of haberdashery—the kind men bought for men and the kind women bought for men, but it now appears that there is a sequel to this story.

As times have changed, it has become the fashionable thing for a man to present his wife or his sweetheart or his girl friend with silk undergarments, and the combinations the men pick out are said to be as atrocious as woman-bought neckties. Purple silk nightgowns with pink ribbons and cerise unmentionables trimmed in green are now being showered on the women folk, and the women have to take these things back to the stores and exchange them for garments more conservative. All of which is good news. Man is just beginning to get even.

CURING GREEN DOCTORS.

A prominent surgeon has urged that the qualification for surgeons be raised, saying that there is too much evidence of poor surgical work being done by untrained, incompetent men.

While agreeing with the purpose of this doctor's remarks, it is to be wondered how much higher the qualifications can be raised. To enter medical school a man must now have at least three years of pre-medical college work. He spends four to six years in medical school, and two years internship. He is lucky if he can hang out his shingle before he is thirty. If he becomes a specialist, add five years more.

The trouble seems to be that the science of surgery has broadened so much that no human being can master the subject much before he is forty years of age. No profession has a longer apprenticeship, and if the curing process for green doctors is to be further lengthened, young men considering the study of medicine must either be independently wealthy at birth, must seek a personal endowment, or must marry money.

The holdup men who robbed an editor the other day must have done it just for the practice.

Women spent nearly a billion dollars for hosiery last year. Anyhow they got a run for their money.

THE ANYMATES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

Poor Scouty sure was scared to far. "I wonder where the Tines are. I'll bet they all are worried 'cause I've stayed down here so long. Wee Clowny told me not to come down here. He said he thought it dumb. And, after all, he sure was right. The chance I took was wrong."

Just then the swordfish swooped down low. Poor Scouty didn't have a show. But wait—he found a long iron bar and seized it in his hand. Upon a rock he quickly jumped. My gracious how his poor heart thumped. But Scouty knew he had to fight, so bravely took his stand.

The swordfish charged—then swished his tail, and Scouty swung, to no avail. It surely was a thrilling fight, with both sides missing blows. Then once again wee Scouty swung. This time the poor swordfish was stung, for Scouty caught him squarely and he nipped right off his nose.

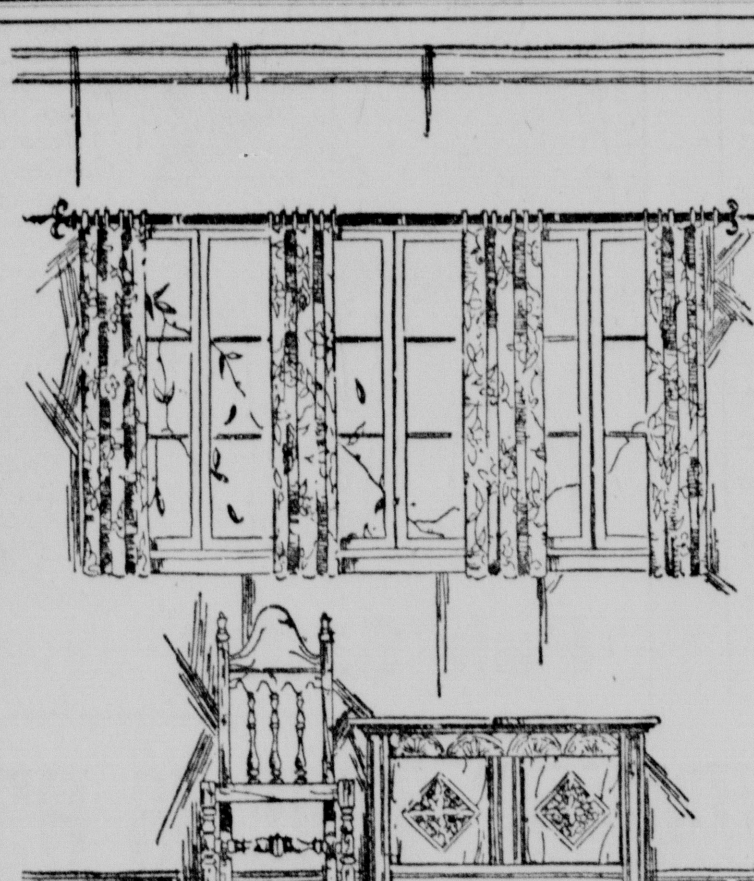

(King Rear brings news to the Tines in the next story.)

SAINT and SINNER

BY ANNE AUSTIN

Faith Lane's religion was a simple trust in something vast and good, and yet not too vast to be concerned with a motherless girl who was trembling with mingled fear and ecstasy before the door that would swing open in a few minutes, admitting her into a strange new life. There was no slightest doubt in her heart that she loved Bob Hathaway, wanted to be his wife, wanted to walk by his side for the rest of her life. But it was a sudden overwhelming conviction of her own unworthiness, a nerve-shaking realization of her ignorance of the essential truths about her own body and about a man's needs that her mother should

Lowell Sherman, one of the stage's great favorites

"It is a wonderful thing to realize that an actor can indulge in smoking and at the same time retain the quality of his voice necessary to a good performance. I am happy to say that I have found this to be true with Lucky Strikes. So much so that I smoke them both while on and off the stage."

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

CIVIC ACHIEVEMENTS

By DON E. MOWRY.
Secretary, the American Community Advertising Association.
Densens of cities are finding that radio proves a good medium to attract tourists, to advertise industries, to bring in new trade, and to attain good will.
There are two methods of procedure now in vogue.
One is for the city to own and manage the station and all programs. Broadcasts, WBAL, at Baltimore; WJAX, at Jacksonville, and WPG, at Atlantic City, are three examples of municipally owned stations.
The other method is for a city, or its Chamber of Commerce, to finance municipal hours from privately owned stations. WEZ, at Springfield, Mass., and WTAM, at Cleveland, have such programs.
Programs sponsored by these cities contain no long-winded addresses or booster talks about "this is the greatest city in the world," and so on. The aim is to present good entertainment, and "home talent" is usually featured.
There is a double benefit in such good-will community advertising.
Residents of the city are made aware that their Chamber of Commerce or city administration is a live organization, and these listeners in turn become city boosters.
Residents of other cities are made aware that the cities sponsoring these programs are progressive.
Applause cards by the hundreds have come to all cities that have taken up radio community advertising.

EX-Buck PRIVATE goes back to FRANCE

CHAPTER LVI
As a matter of information, which might be remembered to the distinct advantage of any member of the American Legion who anticipates a sojourn in Paris in September, the recent experiences of two Americans are herewith submitted.
One went with a party of friends to see the night life of Paris. He summoned a taxi for his "gang" and selected Table No. 40 in the "Palermo," a smart and well-lighted spot. There was an orchestra, dancing, a Spanish lady who entertained with castanets and strange passes with a red shawl, and whatnot. The "whatnot," translated, was champagne. There were six bottles in all—at 190 francs the bottle. That's 1140 francs. A 25 per cent government tax was added—300 francs—and a 10 per cent tax for service—115 francs. Total—1555 francs.
Beacoup Francs
In addition there was the hatcheck bill, the doorman and the boy who opened the taxi—40 francs more—making 1595 francs, or approximately, $64.00 in good, hard, American dinero, as the Spanish dancer would have put it.
A former soldier of the A. E. F. decided to go back to Toul to refresh a few war-time memories. He allex-gazamboed around the quaint, walled city during the afternoon and then went to the Hotel de la Gare. He had a dinner consisting of soup, fish, beefsteak, salad, cheese,

Tony Lazzeri, Yankee infielder who had the doubtful honor of making the last strikeout of 1926, made three home runs in five times up against the White Sox at New York.

Lazzeri's performance, which came within a single run of the record for numbers in one game, featured a long, drawn and thrilling battle which ended with the Yanks on the long end of a 12-11 score.

In five games between the two this season, the Yankees have now come off victorious four times.

Up until yesterday the Pirates apparently had the same kind of an Indian sign on the Giants, but the New Yorkers ended it with an 8-7 victory on the wings of Hornsby's over-the-fence clout in the ninth. Home runs by Webb and Wilson enabled the Cubs to down the Rogers 3-2 while Fothergill's circuit wallop started a rally which gave Detroit a five to three edge over the Red Sox.

The Cardinals with homers by Bottomley and Schulte had the home run advantage over the Braves, but the visitors tallied a greater number of shorter safe blows and won out 11-8. Concentrated hits by the Cincinnati Reds in the later innings accounted for their 4th straight victory 5-4 at the expense of the Phillies. Under a 7-5 beating by the Athletics, the St. Louis Browns descended to the second division.

The INSIDE of BASEBALL BY BILLY EVANS

1. Bases are filled. Umpire calls a balk on the pitcher, who disregards ruling and delivers ball to batsman, who hits a home run. How many runs score?

2. What happens if pitcher gets on the rubber without having the ball in his possession and runner on first is caught off that base through the hidden ball trick?

3. What is the legal distance for a home run on an enclosed ground? Has this rule been recently changed?

4. How does the umpire judge a fly ball as to whether it is fair or foul? Is the position of the fielder considered?

5. Is it necessary that a substitute notify the umpire of his entry into the game for him to be officially in the lineup?

THIS TELLS IT

1. Only one run scores. The calling of the balk suspends play. Base-runners are entitled to advance one base, the runner on third scoring. Batsman who apparently recorded a home run, bats over.

2. It is a balk. Runner on first, apparently retired, is entitled to advance to second.

3. The distance from the plate to the stands or fence must be at least 250 feet. It was formerly 235.

4. It is judged fair or foul according to the relative position of the ball and foul line, the player not being considered.

5. No. The substitute immediately takes the place of the player for whom he was sent in, regardless of whether the umpire is notified.

Haig Thinks His Armies Would Have Won the War

London—The belief that the British armies would eventually have gained the victory in the World War even if the U. S. had not intervened is held by Field Marshal Earl Haig, commander-in-chief of the British expeditionary forces in France and Flanders from 1915 and 1919. He referred gratefully to the share of the allies, but contended that although without American intervention, the result might have been delayed it would have been the same.

Blow up Dam to Release Flood Waters in South

New Orleans — Residents of the Bayou Black section in the lower Atchafalaya basin were awaiting with more confidence the passing of the greatest flood in the history of the valley as a result of the blowing up of a dam which held back the flood waters late yesterday. The relief afforded by the action is expected to remove all danger of inundation above the dam and is not expected to endanger the section below.

passed them all

IT'S the cigarette of the age — the triumph of all smoking history. Just reflect—at the time when more cigarettes are smoked than ever before—Camels passed them all.

Why? Figure it out and you'll find that Camel is made for the particular smoker whose taste, day by day, is more knowing of quality. Camels are rolled of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown. And what blending! Camel's smoothness and mellowness are qualities distinctive to this cigarette.

If you haven't yet tried them, you'll find all your smoking wishes come true in Camels. Mild, clear and smooth from morning to night. Always so satisfyingly good! "Have a Camel!"

Irish Hearts

By MOLLIE MALONE

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Emmett Murtough of Kiltanmool, Ireland, emigrates to America and is followed by Sheila Kildare, to whom he is betrothed, and her father, Sheila makes friends with the family of Rory O'Shan, a professional boxer whom Emmett despises. Sheila begins to see through Murtough's boasting, and Rory escorts her to Coney Island on an automobile trip. Kildare will not work and Sheila gets a position as a waitress. Murtough is now employed by a bootlegging gang.

The place had been one of the fine estates which were constructed twenty odd years ago. Behind the house was a huge barn, and when the car approached it a voice from behind it suddenly queried, sharp and low:
"That you, Dixon?" Dixon halted the machine.
"Yes."
"All right. Everything's ready. We've gone over the truck, plenty of gas, oil, water, everything's shipshape. Stretch your legs a minute."
The four men piled out, stiff from the long ride from the city. Simmons, in charge of the cache, guided them into the barn. It was in pitch darkness. As the last man entered Simmons switched on a flashlight. The truck stood facing the double barn doors. On roughly constructed bunks, covered with blankets, two other men were resting. Simmons turned on two auto lamps, went to what was formerly a harness closet and brought forth bottles of liquor and cups. The men helped themselves to the liquor, "That's real stuff, hasn't been cut," Murtough remarked.
"Mannie's got a tip off that Stevens is going to try to lift this load on the way in. Hear anything?"

Murtough pulled a flashlight from his pocket and examined Evans.

"Haven't seen anything suspicious around here all day, but, of course, they'll work nearer to the city. Better take another shot if that's true. That Stevens crowd is a rough one," warned Simmons.
"Well, he'll have to go some to get us," Murtough declared as he flung down another drink of the liquor. "Better fill up a couple of flasks, one for the truck and one for Dixon," he suggested. Simmons got two flat flasks and opening another bottle filled them, handing one to Murtough and one to the driver of the pilot car.
"I been in these rackets," Simmons went on. "Watch one thing, don't let 'em cut your truck off from your pilot. If you do, they've got you where you can't help each other."
"Okay, Murtough?" asked Dixon.
"Right, let's go!"
Dixon and Williams went out through the small door to the pilot car and Murtough and Evans clambered on board the truck. He started the engine and let it run until he was satisfied it was warm. Simmons and one of his helpers opened the double doors.
"All right, let's go," called Murtough. The pilot car turned into the road and the truck followed. The pacemaker slowly climbed in speed from twenty to twenty-five, thirty, thirty-five, and soon they were bowling along at an even forty miles an hour, a pace that must be maintained until they came into the city.
An hour passed. They were taking the back road, roads that were good driving but which avoided meeting with other motor traffic. There were a dozen such back country thoroughfares leading to the city and if they were fortunate it was probable that they might thus evade the Stevens ambulance, if there was to be one that night. Dixon was driving with dimmers only and his red tail lights. Murtough carried no lights at all. The distance between the pilot car and the truck seemed to maintain an even fifty feet regardless of the character of the going. The whiskey had warmed Murtough and the thrill of driving headlong into the black night with

McClintock's Fiancee Files Suit for Money
Chicago, June 8.—(AP)—Charging that William D. Shepherd, executor and principal legatee of the $1,000,000 prevented the youth from marrying her, Miss Isabelle Pope has filed a cross bill asking that her interest in the estate be fixed as that of a lawful widow of McClintock.
Miss Pope was willed an $8,000 annuity by McClintock who left the remainder of his estate to Shepherd. Shepherd was acquitted two years ago of causing the youth's death by administering typhoid germs. He never has obtained the estate, however.
